By pre-registering, I state my understanding that the purpose of this trip is to conduct professional research of an academic, non-commercial nature and to participate in an international conference organized by the AAJ and ALAL at which there will be an exchange of information and views regarding labor relations and workers' rights in Cuba, the United States and other countries. I agree to participate in the preparation of a report of the results of this research which is intended for public dissemination. I agree to participate in this research and international conference with an open mind and in a spirit of solidarity.

The National Lawyers Guild
Labor and Employment Committee

The National Lawyers Guild is composed of activist lawyers, law professors, law students, legal workers and jailhouse lawyers, all of whom are dedicated to the end that human rights are more sacred than property interests. The Guild was founded in the 1930s as a progressive, multi-racial alternative to the American Bar Association, which then excluded people of color from membership.

  - The Central de Trabajadores de Cuba (CTC)

We will begin the trip with the 15th annual bilateral research program with the Cuban trade union movement. We will visit Cuban workplaces, and interview workers, union leaders, labor lawyers and judges. Upon our return to the City of Havana we will meet with lawyers and trade unionists from South, Central & North America in the two-day international conference organized by the Association of American Jurists (AAJ) and the Latin American Association of Labor Lawyers (ALAL), the progressive inter-hemispheric bar associations with which the NLG and its Labor and Employment Committee are affiliated.

This conference will provide critically important opportunities to build links in the global chain to fight back against the ongoing assault on workers' human rights. Conference topics will include:

1. The exercise of freedom of association and social struggles by unions. New forms of workers' organizations.
2. Social, political and economic integration in Latin America. The role of labor law, unions and social movements.
3. Labor law reforms: their impact on job stability and the protection of workers' rights and preventing employment discrimination.
4. Labor law and criminal liability of officials for working conditions and environment. Safety and health at work and occupational risk prevention.
5. Self-employed and cooperative workers.

Upon our return to the U.S., we will publish a report of the results of our research.
